

Association of Independent Museums

AIM E-News Early July Edition 2016 – Number 88 – EXTRACTS

A Lot To Celebrate: AIM Biffa Award Investing In Heritage

AIM will be running a seminar in London on 4 October at the London Transport Museum to show-case projects and share insights on interpretation approaches and project management, from some of the key projects supported through the AIM Biffa Award National Heritage Landmarks Partnership Scheme. It will also be an opportunity to find out more about the new £1m funding partnership with Biffa Award - History Makers - a 3 year grant programme for museums and heritage sites.

Guest speakers include Gillian French (Biffa Award), Bill Ferris (Chatham Historic Dockyard) and Sarah Macleod (Cromford Mills). This is a free event with lunch included. Further information will be available in the coming weeks via the AIM E News, Blog and Twitter, but to book your place now, please email: helenf@aim-museums.co.uk

The Heritage Alliance Appoints New Chief Executive

The Heritage Alliance has announced that Lizzie Glithero-West is to be its new Chief Executive. Lizzie replaces Kate Pugh OBE who steps down in September after 13 years in the role.

The Research and Education Space

The Research and Education Space (RES) is a new partnership initiative between the BBC, Learning on Screen and Jisc which aims to make it easier for teachers, students and academics to discover and use material held in the public collections of broadcasters, museums, galleries, libraries and publishers. Full information: Research and Education Space