

ENews, 4 November 2021 -

EXTRACTS

Association of Independent Museums

Helping Heritage
Organisations Prosper

Look like you are in the business

Supply chain issues are having an impact on product availability across the UK, resulting in fragmented offers, empty shelves and overdue deliveries. Here Paul Ogburn, previously Retail Director at Tate, shares three key steps you can take to address the challenge.

Read more

Entries now open for Museum + Heritage Awards

The awards, which will return to a glittering live event after two years, celebrate the very best in museums and heritage across the globe and AIM continues to support the awards by partnering the Volunteer(s) of the Year category. Entries are now open and will close on 1 February 2022.

Click here to enter

News In Brief

Understanding hybrid working in the cultural sector

Culture 24's next Let's Get Real action research programme will focus on the hybrid workspace and what it means for our sector. They're asking you to take 3 minutes to help them understand which areas of hybrid working you're finding most challenging or rewarding. Click here to take the survey>>

The demographic trends set to shape the industry in 2022

As you're planning ahead for 2022, read an update from Bloolooop on guest attitudes set to shape the attractions industry post-Covid. Read the article>>